At the regular meeting of the Brightwood Town Board last night a petition from Frank Roecsh was read requesting the board to furnish water free of charge for a public drinking fountain in front of his business. The marshal's report stated that he had cut all the weeds along the sidewalks and in the park, had put in a sewer on Brightwood street and that he had made all the bridge repairs that had been ordered. Bills were allowed to the amount of $121.92. Of this amount $54.42 was to the McElwaine-Richards Company for waterworks supplies, $35 to the Indianapolis Gas Company and $32.50 for labor on the streets, A bill of $948.55 from the Chicago Hose Company was read and turned over to the finance committee. The marshal was instructed to fill in the washouts on James street, to clean out the gutters on the north side of Glen Drive, from Brightwood street to Station street and to repair the bridge on Putnam street, between Lawn

As the rider was moving slowly past the terra cotta works Wilkinson stole up behind him and was just about to grab his intended victim when the victim looked around and saw the officer. and, divining his intentions, peddied swiftly ahead. Wilkinson pursued on foot until out of breath, and, seeing the wheelman escaping, he picked up a stone and threw it after him as a parting salute.

TALKS BY REV. MR. TYLER

SHOWS BETHANY FOLKS SERIOUS AND COMICAL SIDES OF THINGS.

World's Debt to Presbyterian and Episcopal Churches-Nearly Two Dozen Ministers at Acton.

Yesterday morning at 9 o'clock Rev. B. B. Tyler lectured at Bethany on "The World's Debt to the Presbyterian and Episcopal Churches."

He said that the word "Protestant" in the name of the Episcopal Church is something of an anachronism, as special efforts are not being made to protest against the errors of the Roman Church. The word Episcopal indicates the New Testament idea of government by bishops. This church, he said, furnishes an example of dignified and solemn approach to God and the sect emphasizes the idea of worship. The world, he said, is indebted to Anglican and American Episcopalians for much of the best theological history. He doubted if there was present a minister who did not have books by Episcopalian authors in his library. The church, he declared, emphasizes as no other the sin of schism and the importance of union among Christians, and its organization and influence for reaching the masses in the great cities is more nearly in accord with the New Testament church than any other.

The speaker said that it is an important fact that while Presbyterians have a Confession of Faith that is a marvel of coherence and power, it has not been able to hold Presbyterians together, as there are now twelve kinds of Presbyterians in the United States, numbering nearly 1.500,000 souls. The world, he said, is in debt to the Presbyterian Church for the literature it has given. The order and dignity of this church in public worship, he said, is not inferior to that of the Episcopalian, and some of the greatest preachers of the world belong to this denomination. He spoke of the aid the Presbyterian Church gave to the cause of liberty when the colonies were at war with England, while other churches were on the wrong side of the fight, and said that it engaged actively in the evangelization of the world, although the Confession of Faith taught that the number of the elect cannot be increased.

From 10 to 11 o'clock a rest was given and the crowd swung their hammocks, read and had a good time socially. At 11 Mr. Atkinson made some remarks to the effect that it was the intention of the Bethany managers to have the comic as well as the serious side presented to their people and that Rev. Tyler had consented

Rev. Tyler's subject was "Some Present-day Problems." "I have not time to name all the problems," said he, "and, understand I do not attempt to solve any of them. I am only going to show you that they are problems for our serious consideration. Some relate to man's higher nature and some to his lower. I am first struck by the problem of poverty, hard times, and I find that this is one of the perpetual problems. But there are a number of things connected with this state of affairs that to me is in explicable. I go about over the country and I find that there are some people who seem to have eternal sunshine in every phase of their life. You look well-dressed, well housed and well fed. Yet I remember that four years ago one party cried 'Anything for And now you are crying again this year 'Anything for a change,' Well, I am not sure but that you will get it. Do you think you will be satisfied? Every convention forms a platform and says, 'Now this is what we want.' You do not look like you are suffering. I go out over the country and I find thrift and happiness. Sometimes I find a farm that mortgaged. But it is usually the farm of some young man who hasn't finished paying for it. In New York city not many of the business houses but what are mortgaged. Men say it is cheaper. There is plenty of money in the East to loan at 5 per cent. Some one says, 'I haven't got the money for this or that.' Neither have I. This problem is how to Greek." Dr. Young said that the converget it. Don't say there isn't any; there was never more. During the hard times of three years ago there was more money in New York city than there had been at any time since old Peter Minuet bought it for $24. I want more money, and I suppose you do too. Suppose we put the mints to printing money; how am I to get my share? Mind I am not making a political speech. Don't you lay awake at night if will go to the wall, and don't you go crazy if they say that should the silver men win we will go to the eternal smash-up. I beseech you to look to God and trust in Him and act in an honest way. I have talked long enough to show you that this is a "Another problem is that a thousand milthat prohibition don't prohibit; that's the devil's own ne. If it don't prohibit, then why are saloon keepers so anxious to keep that party down? How shall we stop the liquor dealer's trade? By a diffusion of knowledge; letting people know the effect it has on the physical, mental and moral nature. We are going to have a campaign of education; solve the question at the bal-"Again, saloon keepers are mostly Roman Catholics; now, if we can persuade them to close their doors this evil can be eradicated. Let me tell you the Roman Catholic Church is to be dreaded, not as a religious power, but as a political power. Now, understand me. I am as unwilling to talk of this as I was to talk of the church Monday. And should there be a law propased to deprive them of their rights I would be the first to vote against it. But I think they should obey the American government, those whose homes, are in America, and not the power at Rome. It I don't make a sweeping declaration; there patriots as those of Protestant churches I do not fear a war with the Catholics: it is foolish to think of such a thing, because we have free thought, free speech, free press, an unchanged Bible, open churches and a free ballot.

"Now, I can't talk long about religion

without thinking of the women; in fact I can't talk long about anything without thinking of them. I was talking with a business man a short time ago, when he said, with a very long face, that women were pressing the young men into the corners; now it wasn't that way when I was a young man. At the same time, there were three nimble-fingered young women in his office at work. Why didn't he hire men? Because women render better servce and for less money than men. They almost always get there somehow. Pretty soon men will be crying and howling for their rights. It is said that there are 27 .-000 women in New York city supporting their husbands. The question will soon be What are the women going to do with us?" Miss Edwards, who has been traveling in | ing. Egypt, tells us that when a marriage is performed there the man takes the woman's name. What if that state of affairs comes to pass in this country? I suggest a blending of the two names-thus, Miss Smith marries Mr. Mithers-the name will then become Smithers. Did you ever meet. a lady in real-estate business? TWENTY-ONE MINISTERS. That Many Were on the Acton

Grounds Yesterday. It was conceded that yesterday was one of the most successful days the Acton Assembly has had this summer. Twenty-one Methodist ministers were present at the pavilion meetings and the presence of Dr. and Mrs. Eldridge, the evangelists, added interest to the services. Mrs. Eldridge gave a Bible reading at 9 o'clock, taking for her subject "The Mystery Revealed."

The visiting ministers make the hotel their headquarters and before each dinner their strong voices ring out with "Praise God from Whom all blessings flow," as they gather in the dining room around their table. Many of the cottagers, especially the young ones, gather at the entrance when the trains arrive and greet their friends, but let one come in with a basket while it makes much of worship, it makes and he is instantly surrounded by an eager much of the preaching of the word and host, each one trying to carry his basket and secure his company up the walk. The Epworth cottage is again filled with leaguers and about twenty-five more are expected to-day to enjoy the hay-wagon party which the league will give to-night. The little folks had a pretty demonstration at 7 o'clock last evening. They gathered at the band stand and marched up the avenue to the pavilion, keeping step and singing songs. At the pavision they had a good programme of songs and recitations for an hour. The 9 o'clock meetings and the cottage prayer meetings are being continued, and with the addition of the Bible readings, Epworth meetings and the evangeristic meeting after the evening sermon, the day is a busy one. The sermons to-day will be by the following ministers: 10:50 a. m., Rev. E. A. Campbell; 2:30, Rev. C. Tinsley; 8 p. m., Rev. V. W. Tevis. Dr. Curtis's sermon yesterday morning was from the sixth chapter of Isaiah and the subject was "Isaiah's Visitor." During his sermon the doctor scored the cottagers pretty hard for their nonattendance at the religious services. He said that out of the twelve or fifteen hundred cottagers he was able to count only about seventy to one hundred in his audience. During his remarks he also said some strong things about the bicycle and the evil effects of the Sunday riding indu ged in, on the church and moral habits of the people. Dr. Rawlins, of Cincinnati, preached the afternoon sermon in place of Rev. H. J.

Talbott, from the first chapter of St. John. He said that people should not reject Christianity because it was full of mysteries, for all life is mysterious and people do not refuse to investigate it because of its mysteries. There is something wonderful and mysterious in the story of the cross to the moral mind. As astronomers have only small instruments to measure the distances of the stars and the size of the ited means of measuring the love of God. Conversion brings man to his normal condition and gives the character a priest iness and kingliness not formed elsewhere. To the eye of man the Christian is no stronger than other men, but not so is he to the eye of God. After the processional and the exercises by the children, Dr. Young, the presiding elder of the Louisville district, preached from the sixteenth verse of the first chapter of Romans: "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth, to the Jew first and also to the sion of Saul was the most wonderful on record. "It is not easy for us to understand ness was the doctrine of their faith. The gentiles had many gods, but they boasted of one God and recalled His manifestations to their fathers in contrast to not reconcile their exalted views of God version made a lamb of the lion and he bethe gospel? First, it is not a system of inphilosophy. It is not unphilosophical, for it has stood the tests of reason for ages, and it is strange that man done it could not be proved that man did not write it. Knowledge is power, but it cannot save the soul. We may have wisdom, but it is below the sweep of the gospel which is a realm of faith. Secondly, it is not a system of moral duties and church observances. We live in an age of culture. We make no war on culture, but the position it has exalted does not further the gospel. True culture is not religion, but is the effect of religion on the mind and heart. There are two kinds of culture. First, that of the world and society, but there is always war between the world and the church. Second, that culture which seeks to raise a sinner to a Christian life. It is like a dead fig tree, it may be dug about and fertilized, but it bears no fruit and is still dead. Something more is needed, and the answer is in the text. If the gospel is 'the power of God' He must be its author and we follow a system of revealed truth. All man's ideas of salvation are foolishness to God. He puts regeneration into man's heart and does not speak in the storm and tempest, but in the still, small voice. If the gospel is 'the power of God' our faith is well founded. In the Bible every display of God is for man's salvation. Salvation is not in the vocabulary of man. Pardon and forgiveness are unknown to nature. Nature says 'whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap,' but the gospel brings salvation to

INTERESTING EVIDENCE BEFORE INTERSTATE COMMISSION.

Serious Charges by Vice President Truesdale, of the Rock Island-Maegley on the Rack.

The inquiry of the Interstate-commerce Commission regarding grain rate manipulators at Kansas City promises some sensational results. At yesterday's Chicago session Vice President Truesdale, of the Rock Island, and Joint Agent Maegley, of Kansas City, were the only witnesses. The investigation has resolved itself into a battle royal between the Chicago roads not running through Kansas City and the through lines. President Stickney, of the Great Western, a local road, tried to prove that the Western connections of the Indlana, Illinois & Iowa and the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern, belt lines around Chicago, had authorized these roads to pay large rebates to heavy grain shippers and that the treasurers of the different through lines had turned over money to their attorneys to be paid shippers as rebates. Mr. Truesdale denied cognizance of these deals during the period covered by the inquiry, April 1 to date. Mr. Truesdale practically charged competing roads with giving rebates to the Anglo-American Packing Company. The officers of this company have been subpoenaed to appear before the com-

The interest of the day centered around the evidence of Joint Agent Maegley, of Kansas City. Maegley's evidence proved that the manner of reconsigning grain from Kansas City to the East is very loose; that expense bills are traded in and the identity of grain lost. When asked to produce the expense bills of the different roads Maegley said he had turned them all over to the interested roads, which will be asked to produce them in evidence. The hearing will continue to-day. The Chicago-St. Paul lines held a special meeting at ivision of the East-bound iness from the Northwest, thereby getting the Soo into the immigrant agreement. No agreement was reached at the session.

General Notes.

The regular monthly meeting of the Central Passenger Committee will be held on next Tuesday, the 11th, at Chautauqua. The Wheeling & Lake Erie has shortened the working time in its shops from ten to eight hours. This was done at the request of the men, as, otherwise, a part of the force would have necessarily been discharged.

It is stated that Passenger Agent Heard, of the Great Northern railroad and Northern Steamship Company, is to be asked for his resignation by President Hill, and his friends say that he has been shabbily treated by the autocratic president.

Chairman Caldwell has made a ruling for the benefit of the Western roads as to the effect of the regulations of the association permitting the reduction of fares to race meets. He holds that the privilege of reduced fares does not apply to bicycle

Not much stock is taken in the talk to the effect that the C., H. & D. is desirous of getting into Cleveland over the B. & O. and the C. A. & C. The route would be so long that under the existing tariff of rates or any tariff that could be worked there could be no profit in the business. There is reason to doubt the rumor that the C., H. & D. is the backer of the recently revived project for building a new line of road between Union City and Huntington. At Huntington this line would connect with the Chicago & Erie, and at Union City with the old Dayton & Union road, now jointly owned and officered by the Big Four and C., H. & D. This would give the C., H. & D. a new and direct line to Chicago, but once in operation would interfere materially with the Indianapolis division of the C., H. & D.

The members of the mileage bureau of the Western roads held a meeting in Chicago yesterday to settle a number of points that have been causing some trouble. Chief among these is the difficulty hampering legitimate users of mileage books who find the restrictions onerous. They object, among other things, to the requirement that they shall virtually make a deposit of $10 with the ticket agent, to be held until they return the cover of the book. One good result remains, however, the vigorous work of the bureau has practically cleared the scalpers' offices of mileage books. Even the matter of children's fares has come to be a disturbing factor, and Chairthe feelings of the Jews toward the cross | man Caldwell has found it necessary to of Christ," said he, "Majesty and great- caution members of the Transcontinental Passenger Association to exercise greater caution to prevent frauds. The C., H. & D. has duplicated the experience of the Big Four in attempting to should try and bring the gospel into com-plete understanding, for if that could be the rates which prevailed in 1895. The atwas made yesterday by named company, but the response by the public was of such a character as will be likely to prevent any similar undertakings in the future. While the $5 rate which has heretofore prevailed for excursions from this city to the Falls was entirely too low to be profitable, the public had come to consider that about the right figure, and even in times of prosperity and abundance they would not be likely to patronize a $10 excursion very liberally. It now remains to be seen how the L. E. & W., with the differential of $3.50 and extended time limit will succeed. The latter road's excursion leaves to-day and the local agents report a fair inquiry for tickets. The refusal of the people of Cincinnati to sell the Cincinnat! Southern to the representatives of the C., H. & D. continues to be talked about a good deal in that city, and the expression of opinions concerning the result of the election is rather interesting. Those who opposed the sale say the price offered was not enough, the dates of payment too remote and the security insufficient. Those who are displeased with the result say the city has lost more than the bidders, and they say the Southern may now seek an entrance to Cincinnati by another route, or that it may give Cincinnati the go-by and make Louisville the Ohio-river terminus. Moreover, that it may cut off the Cincinnati Southern at Chattanooga and throwing all its business, which now works over the C., N. O. & P., to competing lines, thus making the C. S. practically a local line, without any South-

Concerning the talk about the construction of a competing line from Cleveland to this city. General Manager Schaff, of the Big Four, stated to a reporter that he knew nothing about it except that a company alleged to have that object in view, had been incorporated, and added that if the road were built those interested in it would be sorry. It is said, with what truth or by what authority cannot now be learned, that the C., H. & D. is behind the project, and will, on the completion of the new line, enter into competition with the Big Four for business between this city and Cleveland. There is a sharp rivalry between the two systems, and if there were business in sight to warrant a struggle for its division the statement might be taken as true. But unless the construction of the new line should develop an unprecedentedly heavy local traffic, one fails to see where any return could be secured from the millions that would necessarily be paid in the building of the competing road. As it is, the Big Four finds the through busifering.

Few Prostrations Yesterday. The thermometer at the weather bureau yesterday registered a maximum temperature of 94 8-10 degrees. Even though the heat was so intense, few prostrations were reported.

Miss Marguerite Harrington, a stenographer employed in a commission house at South Delaware street, had a fainting ell yesterday from which she is still suffering. She was removed to St. Vincent's Hospital by the city ambulance. She had been a patient there for some time and still retained her room. She went to work yesterday for the first time and the exitement, together with the heat, was too much for her frail constitution.

An Argument for Silverites. The recent issue of $1 silver ccrtificates have been called in by the Treasury Department, owing to the fact that "tranquillity" was spelled with only one "l." A mber of bills are being displayed in Julius Walk & Co.'s window. They are beautiful specimens of artistic engraving. But a few of them have reached this city. As they are to be called in, there is already a demand for them by collectors and one enterprising firm is offering them for sale at a 50 per cent. advance.

COSTLY HORSE HIRE.

State Pays $1,000 for Nags for Militia Officers.

The Auditor's office yesterday paid a bill of something over $1,000 for the hire of the horses upon which the officers of the State militia cavorted about Fairview Park last week. This did not include the bill for feeding the animals. At the rate horses are now selling the sum expended by those having charge of the encampment for hiring animals would have bought outright more than twenty of

UNION NATIONAL S. AND L. CASE STILL DRAGS ALONG IN COURT.

Chapin C. Foster's Testimony-Commission Firm of Mummenhoff & Co. Forced to Make a Transfer.

Yesterday the Union National Savings and Loan Association began presenting its testimony in the suit for a receiver. Chapin Foster, an expert bookkeeper, was placed on the stand to refute the statements made by Samuel Morrison in regard to the books of the association. Mr. Foster testified that he had had thirty-five years experience as a bookkeeper and understood the work both theoretically and practically. In substance he said: "I have no interest in the defendant association. I was present when Mr. Morrison examined the books of the company, I examined all matters examined by him. I was not always made aware of the facts for which he was seeking. His examina-Chicago yesterday to try and arrange a tion seemed to be limited to particular things, of which he had notes before he came. I saw no facts in the books tending to indicate that dividends had been declared that had not been earned. I saw no discrimination in the declaration of dividends. The dividend of Jan. 1, 1894, was declared on the balances of June 30. 1893. It covered a period of nine months. It was declared on not to exceed $84,981.21 of installment stock and $70,130,40 of prepaid stock. This was more than was in force, April, 1893, from which time Mr. Morrison calculated the dividend. Both of these kinds of stock were probably considerably less on account of withdrawal notices which would prohibit the stock from participating in the dividend. There is an error in Mr. Morrison's cauculations on this subject of over $30,000." He was closely questioned in regard to the specific charges made by Mr. Morrison and he denied the existence of any of the discrepancies stated by Mr. Morrison. The case will probably be completed to-day.

> COMMISSISON FIRM EMBARRASSED. Mummenhoff & Co. Transfer Their

Business. Mummenhoff & Co., commission merchants at 135 and 137 East Maryland street, have transferred their business to W. F. Kuhn, who will continue the business. Mr. Kuhn thinks the assets will equal the liabilities. The sale is due to inability to make collections promptly. Mr. Kuhn assumes the liabilities to the amount of about $35,000, including real estate mortgages to the amount of $26,000. A part of this indebtedness is due to Mr. Kuhn. There are several creditors, to whom $3,000 or $4,000 are due, who are not protected by this sale. The transfer was made for a stated consideration of $10,000, Ostermeyer Habeas Corpus. The habeas corpus suit of Mary Ostermeyer against the Indianapolis Orphans' Home, for possession of her child, was on for partial hearing in the Circuit Court vesterday. The defendant filed an answer in which it was shown that the child is now with a family in Cincinnati, not indentured, but placed there merely to give it a temporary home. The plaintiff asked time to prepare a reply to this answer, which was granted.

Brightwood Shoe Dealer Assigns. Charles A. Meadows, a shoe dealer, at No. 34 Pendleton avenue, Brightwood, yesterday filed a deed of assignment to John W. Meginnis. The assignee gave bond in the sum of $1,500. The assets are estimated at $1,800, and the liabilities will probably reach that amount.

He Was in His Own Home.
